

If you've never used PayPal before, here's how:

Go to PayPal.com and create an account, using a credit card.

Tell them how much you want to send and what books you are ordering. Across the top of the PayPal page, there are a series of navy blue buttons. One of them says, "Send Money."

Give them my email address.

They will send me a notice.

I will send the book to you as an email attachment.

Open and save the attachment.

If you need to pay by check rather than credit card, email me for details.

(Note: If you need the ebook sent to a different email address than is on the account, let me know.)

Please note: PayPal is a secure site and we've never had any difficulty with it, but there are a variety of scams on the internet in which hackers claim to be from PayPal, your credit card company, or your bank, asking you for personal and financial information. Never reply directly to such requests by clicking on a link in the email, but instead go to PayPal's website and check your account.
